

Personal Qualities

In order to determine if an applicant possesses the Personal Qualities, the Quebec Immigration Officer will consider the individual's qualities by asking simple oral questions that will permit the officer to evaluate the individual. The officer will be looking for: flexibility, sociability, dynamism, initiative, perseverance, self-confidence, sense of realism and maturity - all of these qualities in relation to the individual's professional and day to day life.

Motivation

In order to determine if an applicant has sufficient Motivations to immigrate to Quebec, the officer will consider the individual's motivation by asking simple oral questions that will permit the officer to evaluate the individual's motivation with respect to his/her immigration and his/her choice of the province of Quebec.

Knowledge of Quebec

Quebec Immigration Officer will ask questions relating to: the job market, the conditions of the individual's intended occupation, standards of living and weather conditions.