

According to the Quebec regulations, a single applicant needs at least 50 points at the pre-selection stage, in order to proceed with an application for permanent residence status in Quebec. A single applicant needs a total of at least 60 points prior to being issued a Certificate of Selection by the Province of Quebec. An applicant may be awarded up to 10 additional points, following an interview with a Quebec immigration officer.

A couple needs at least 58 points at the pre-selection stage, in order to proceed with an application for permanent residence status in Quebec. A couple needs a total of at least 68 points prior to being issued a Certificate of Selection by the Province of Quebec. An applicant may be awarded up to 10 additional points, following an interview with a Quebec immigration officer.