

Interviews are not mandatory in the Quebec program, although they are requested more often than not, if the applicant has not achieved the required pass mark, without the interview. During the interview, the Quebec immigration officer may award up to ten (10) additional points to the applicant.