If you have applied under the Quebec program the principle applicant must have at least CAD $2,300. Add approximately CAD $1,000 to this sum for each member of the family accompanying you (spouse, common-law spouse and children). You must be able to show financial ability to meet the basic needs of you and your accompanying dependent(s) during a minimum period of three months.

If a candidate does not have sufficient financial resources at his/her disposal, the candidate's application will be refused at the selection stage, as this is a disqualifying factor.
