The application can be made:

· In the country where the applicant is currently present and has been lawfully admitted

OR

· In the applicant's country of nationality

Please note that if the applicant's country of residence does not have a Canadian visa post that deals with PR applications, the application must be submitted to the country whose visa office has been designated as the visa post which deals with PR applications from the applicant's country of residence.